Newlin, Brooks Win Kaimin Positions; Editor, Manager Start Work in Spring

Bob Newlin, Lewistown, and Joan Brooks, St. Ignatius, yesterday were approved by Central board for the two top positions on the 1954-55 Kaimin staff.

The board approved Publication board's recommendation that Newlin be named editor to succeed Bill Jones, Miles City.

Joan Brooks was named business manager. She will start her official duties at the beginning of spring quarter, replacing Winnie Dinn, Butte, out-going business manager.

Newlin has been associate editor of the Kaimin during the last year. A junior majoring in the news-editorial sequence in the School of Journalism, he is an active member of Sigma Delta Chi, men's journalism professional fraternity, and Press club.

A member of Sigma Nu fraternity, Newlin was appointed temporary class president in the fall of his freshman year at MSU. In the class elections, he was a candidate for Central board delegate and was elected. In his sophomore year he was re-elected to the board for a two-year term to include both his sophomore and junior years. He was also a member of Bear Paw.

At Fergus County high school in Lewistown, where he was graduated in 1951, Newlin was editor of the school newspaper and president of the associated students.

Miss Brooks, also a Kaimin associate editor during the last year, is Press club president, junior class president, and a new initiate of Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalism professional honorary.

Miss Brooks is affiliated with the Delta Gamma sorority and is junior sponsor at Corbin hall. Last year she was a member of Spur, sophomore women's service honorary. During her freshman year she was social chairman of her residence hall.

She is a junior majoring in advertising. This month she was in charge of the annual Press club banquet.

Miss Brooks is a graduate of Mission high school, St. Ignatius. During her senior year she was editor of the school newspaper and was a member of the yearbook staff.

Liquor Sales Crack-Down Reported to Central Board; Social Standards to Get Plan

BY ED STENSON

A rumor that University minors who have falsified identification cards to purchase alcoholic beverages are to be the subject of a crack-down campaign by Missoula authorities was expressed yesterday by Kay Hudson, Rapid City, S. D., ASMSU vice-president.

Miss Hudson told Central board that the campaign is no secret. Both county and city officials have said the crack-down is coming.

"The University is responsible for good citizenship," said H. J. Wunderlich, dean of students. "The University must build good attitudes in all areas."

The consensus of the board was that present laws concerning University minors must be clarified.

"The local officers have a serious problem with minors," said Prof. Edwin Briggs, Central board adviser.

The board after discussing the crack-down on the sale of alcohol reviewed the social and academic honor-system proposed at Friday's meeting of its committee studying University regulations affecting students.

The committee proposed a plan which would establish a student-faculty legislative and judicial body to rule on infractions of university regulations, subject to the dean's approval.

Central board gave its seal of approval to the committee's proposal and recommended that it be sent to the University Social Standards committee for further study.

"It's a good start in the right direction," said Wunderlich of the proposed council. He told the board that he had worked with a similar program at Stanford.

"Such a program can be effective if freshmen are indoctrinated to such a plan and are willing to accept responsibility under such an arrangement," said Wunderlich.

The board tabled action on the Tomorrow's edition of the Kaimin will include an eyewitness description of the nocturnal excursions in Bozeman Tuesday and Wednesday of five MSU students tracking down a carved bear, bell clapper, and Student Union sign filched by MSC students Saturday night.

The students — ASMSU president, Traditions board chairman, Bear Paw president, legal consultant, and Kaimin editor — left Missoula Tuesday at 11 a.m. and returned Wednesday at 4:45 a.m. Watch for the hilarious tale of summons, sheriffs, and subpoenas tomorrow!

Representative Will Discuss Study Abroad

William H. Allaway, field representative from the Denver office of the Institute of International Education, will be on campus March 10-11-12 to discuss the foreign student program and American student's study abroad.

Students interested in foreign study and who would like a conference with Allaway should contact Prof. Robert Line in Bqs. Ad. 105. Allaway will also have interviews with foreign students attending MSU, especially those attending through the Institute of International Education.

Line, who is foreign student advisor, said that the Institute for 34 years has aided in bringing 2,500 foreign students to this country annually and has selected 1,000 American students each year to study abroad.

The University should be entitled to at least three Fulbright Awards, which are handled by the Institute, but last year only one was awarded to an MSU student, according to Line.

Some highlights of Allaway's visit will be:

Wednesday, Mar. 10, noon, lunch in the faculty center for all interested in study abroad.

Wednesday, 4 p.m., meeting in the Bitterroot room.

Thursday, Mar. 11, individual conferences with Allaway.

Turner Comments On 'Curious Game Called Basketball'

Dear Editor:

If Montesquieu were to write a new edition of the "Persian Letters" from Missoula, he probably would have to include the following observations on basketball:

"The curious game called basketball about which I wrote in my last letter also has rules for those who watch it—people called yuks. They are not permitted to show much enthusiasm, although the pretense is made of having a number of charming young ladies—and an acrobat—encourage a yell closely akin to that of a dying camel on the plains near Ecbatana.

"From time to time, these yuks are aroused from their torpor to utter hideous cries strongly reminiscent of Turkish cattle. These cries seem directed against the men called 'umpires,' and an unreasoning animosity toward the 'coach' is also encouraged.

"It is an honored custom to remain seated as long as possible during the playing of war songs, and the playing of what is called 'the school song' at the game's end is a signal for all yuks to leave. Having in mind our own custom, I was very nearly trampled to death while standing at attention.

"What I have called 'school spirit' is not admired here. Freshmen are the most honored players, and as a player advances in age, the attention showed him declines. In one game between what are called the 'fobulous froshe' and the 'varsity' (or the older men), cheering for the latter was strictly forbidden. I was told that they are headed for the 'ash heap,' a curious idiom I have yet to master. "Etc., Etc., Etc."

Officials for the event will be Billy McFarland, a past performer in the M-club fights, and Burt Sommers, referees; Deane Jones and George Miller, judges; Vince Wilson and Bob Oswald, timers.

The Merritt Memorial Trophy will be awarded to the outstanding fighter of the evening and the team trophy will be given to the fraternity or independent campus group winning the most bouts. Tarrant won the Merritt award last year and Phi Delta Theta fraternity copped the team trophy.

League-Leading Lawyers Lost 3-0 To Phi Sigs

Phi Sigma, currently in seventh place in Intramural bowling, dumped the league leading Lawyers 3-0 in Saturday afternoon play at the Liberty alleys.

Theta Chi, now only two games behind the Lawyers, won two games out of three with the Foresters, who are now tied with the Phi Deltas for fourth.

Sigma Nu, still in third place, dropped the Sigma Chi club two games out of three, and Phi Delta Theta took two out of three from Sigma Phi Epsilon. Alpha Tau Omega failed to show and thereby forfeited three games to Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Jim Cinker, rolling for the Theta Chi's, had the high individual game of 217. Jim Jackson, Sigma Chi, rolled the high individual series of 558. Theta Chi copped both the high team game with an 855, and the high team series with a score of 2415.

Opponents' Corner

By J. D. COLEMAN

The also-rans will scramble for positions below champion Colorado A&M in the final go-round of the Skyline basketball wheel this week-end. Utah State, currently in fourth place, winds up its season at Logan Friday against last place Montana. A win for the Grizzlies will leave them with a 4-10 record and will hand the key to the conference cellar to Denver to use as the outcome of its two games with BYU and New Mexico dictates.

The Colorado Aggies (12-1) close out their most successful season in the school's history against the 1953 champion Wyoming Cowboys (9-4) at Laramie. A win for the Cowpokes will assure them of second place, since Brigham Young (7-5) can do no better than third even if the Cougars swept both games of their visit to New Mexico Thursday and Denver Saturday. New Mexico and Utah are deadlocked for fourth place with identical 5-7 records. Utah plays at Denver Thursday and at New Mexico Saturday.

It seems that there are seven Skyline schools that are happy over Colorado A&M's basketball triumph and Wyoming's departure from the hoop throne. The reason for all the raptures seems to be that Everett Shelton, Wyoming coach, has few friends and many enemies, while Bill Stranigan, the Aggie coach, is said to be a regular, jolly good fellow. Since nobody likes a consistent winner, (ask the New York Yankees!) it will be interesting to note coach Stranigan's future popularity if his Rams should happen to get in the habit of winning.

The Skyline conference standings, ending the week of February 28.

SAE Files Protest Over SN Victory

Sigma Nu blasted second-place Sigma Alpha Epsilon Tuesday night in an upset 43-30 League A victory. However, SN may not get credit for the win, as a protest was filed by SAE that SN used an ineligible player.

George Cross, intramural sports director, said that a meeting of the Intramural Sports board in his office at 4:30 p.m. today will decide the protest. If the board decides in SAE's favor, the game will result in a forfeit by the Sigma Nus. Jim Burke, SN, and Don Erickson and Dick Harger, SAEs, each had 10 for high point score.

Other Monday night League A results:

Sigma Chi 52, Jumbolaya 48. High scorers: Beach, 16; Shadoan, 10, SX; Brant, 11; Monno, 10, Jumbolaya.

Phi Sigma Kappa 44, Theta Chi 28. High scorers: Ron Rundle, TX, 10; Brockway, PSK, 11.

Forestry 49, Alpha Tau Omega 39. High scorers: Nyquest, 15; Fowler, 14; Heinz, 11, all of Forestry; Smith, ATO, 11.

Team Leaves Today; Plays Utah's Aggies

A 10-man Montana University basketball team leaves for Logan, Utah, today for its final conference game of the 1953-54 season against the Utah State Aggies. The Aggies beat the Grizzlies 70-66 at Missoula.

The game also marks the end of collegiate basketball careers for co-captains Ed Anderson and Ritch Johnson. Anderson is the second high scorer on this year's Silvertip squad. He has poured through 308 points, while Johnson is third-ranking with 257 points.

Others making the trip include: (points in parenthesis) Ed Argenbright (322), George Samuelson (147), Ed Fine (135), Dave Adams (98), Ed Bergquist (73), Harold Winterholler (48), Gary Jystad (12) and Ken Byerly (6).

Students Must File For Deferment Test

All eligible students who plan to take Selective Service College Qualification test for 1954 should file applications at once for the test, to be given April 22, according to the headquarters of the national Selective Service board.

Applications and information bulletins may be obtained at any Selective Service board, according to information recently released.

"Early filing will be greatly to the student's advantage," said J. E. Terral, national director of Test Administration, in a letter to the Kaimin. He stressed further, that the student should follow application instructions carefully and make sure that it is not postmarked after the deadline which is midnight, March 8, 1954.

Results of the tests will be reported to the student's Selective Service local board of jurisdiction for use in considering his deferment as a student, according to Educational Testing Service, which prepares and administers the College Qualification test.

WUS is Considerably More Than . . .

An Important Pain

A question of humanitarianism will come before Central board this afternoon at 4:10. The outcome of this special meeting will be indicative of what MSU thinks concerning one of the world's gravest problems. We hope the students will be proud of what Central board decides.

Is Prior Commitment Most Important?

The question is, which is more important—Tex Beneke or the success of a World University Service drive? The board postponed this decision until today. This afternoon the members will have to decide whether Beneke should be hired at $1,500 for April 10 (Saturday), or he should be canceled because WUS had priority on that week for its drive.

George Lambros, head of WUS, feels that students would forsake subsidizing the WUS drive if they are faced with a schedule like this: March 23, Buddy Morrow; April 3, Military Ball; April 9, co-sponsored WUS and speech dance at the Hotel Florence; April 10, Tex Beneke—plus WUS activities such as Chinese Auctions and car prizes tossed in along the way.

On the other side of the fence, some board members feel WUS is a fine organization in theory, but in practice the funds don't always go where they are supposed to go. Their basis for such accusations rests in hearsay and war stories.

Is It Really a Dangerous Precedent?

Some members are hesitant to accept a compromise plan. This would call for the profits of the Beneke dance to go to the WUS fund. The hesitant members claim that other "drives" have asked to sponsor big name bands, but Central board refused to allow them on the grounds a dangerous precedent would be established.

We agree a precedent would be set, but all precedents are not necessarily dangerous. If WUS was allowed to sponsor Beneke, all factions would be satisfied, plus a few hundred foreign students to whom Beneke would be a Utopian luxury.

Of course the Red Cross, Cancer, Polio and other drives are worthy, but nothing is more worthy than the educations that are the keys to the possible future success of less-privileged nations.

Our Band Fund is Stable Enough . . .

We believe that WUS should be allowed to sponsor the dance, and reap the profits. That Beneke should pass through Missoula at a time when WUS had already spoken for student support is indeed unfortunate. We realize "drives" sometimes become pains in proverbial necks. We realize those pains are nothing in comparison with pains endured by those for whom WUS is directed and intended.—BJ

No movies will be shown March 11 and 18. The series will resume with "Apartment for Peggy" starring Jeanne Crain, March 25, Charles Plowman, SU Film committee chairman, announced.

that Counts"

Nothing to buy—play our new game "It's Your Birthday that Counts"—simply come into our store and sign our "win a diamond book"—consolation prizes for everyone registered.

And listen to this. Anyone purchasing a registered diamond set this month from our large selection, will be eligible to win a genuine cultured pearl necklace. Few girls are owners of such a prized possession.

The sealed envelope in our display window contains the lucky birthdate and will be opened the 25th of this month—contest termination date. No one under 16 is eligible.
